Academic background:

Bachelor of Arts, Urban and Regional Planning, McGill University
Diploma in Management and Accounting, McGill University
Diploma in Computer Programming and Development, The Israel
Institute for Productivity
Rabbinic Certification, Jerusalem Israel

Professional career:

I began my professional life as a Chartered Accountant and as a Registered Industrial Accountant. My specialty was in Forensic and Investigative reporting.
After moving to Israel, I became a Computer Programmer and Systems Analyst. Following a five-year career, I moved into Technical Communications

Professional experience in technical communication:

For almost 3 decades, I have been at the forefront of the industry in Israel, working in a variety of industries and using many different technologies.
I have worked closely with my colleagues for our mutual benefit, to increase the professionalism of the Israeli Technical Writer.
In addition to writing, I also have experience as an instructor in the field, having taught advanced topics to students, and basic topics to engineers and other SMEs

Goals for my role as substitute delegate:

My goals as a delegate are to

- continue building the Country Organization
- increasing the membership
- assist in providing more professional seminars and events
- increase the number of cross-border events with other tekomp organizations
- continue providing support and backup for the delegate.
